THE USE OF 'I'...

Having read Montaigne and Bacon at length, I no longer fear the pronoun 'I'.

All of our lives, we are conditioned in false modesty to speak in humility, at the same time having to sublimate honest pride in honest achievement.

It makes liars of us. We assume plural references to things more than two could not have done, let alone a crowd. This is not to say the singular orbits without reference to the plural, but name one development initiated in final analysis by a committee. You can't.

Our civilization prides itself in oneness; for example, monotheism, one God, that enormous contribution of Judaism; one Christ, modern founder of Western religion; one evolution, that line of energy from amino acids out of electricity culminating in man; the universe, one incomprehensible void; unity, that ultimate desire in man's religion, science, letters, law, philosophy.

In short, order unified so this vast committee of 'I's' can function in four dimensions, in this world and the veiled one.

Honest use of the pronoun 'I' might restore some confidence in the individual, encourage his experimentation beyond the group shelter, which requires more than the individual finds healthy to give.

This reference inevitably devolves to contemporary politics and economics and how you and I can unify our lives without total reliance on the past or total doubt of the future.

Bacon and Montaigne, the essayists, knew themselves and wrote about themselves at length, not in adulation, but in considerable honesty. Out of these personal essays came observations and insight within human experience, beyond Godliness, but not timelessness. They provide valuable dimension to the person. They give him a mind as well as a soul. Risking the danger, risking the 'sin,' if you require that definition, of overidentity, Montaigne and Bacon and their inheritors give modern man a place in this vast light, among these vast numbers, a focus, a glimpse he just might understand.

Things like God, eternity, goodness, virtue, meanness and the semantics of the ages must boil to something, reduce to some meaning, to some use, or we are grains of sand.

So we find ourselves, we arrogant essayists, we find ourselves in the ultimate id, the ultimate, understandable entity --- 'I'.

Alcoa Reports Record Sales For '72

PITTSBURGH, Pa. Aluminum Company of America has reported sales and operating revenues in 1972 totaled a record $1.75 billion, compared with $1.44 billion in 1971.

Net income for 1972 was $102.8 million, or $4.61 a common share. This compares with 1971 net income of $55.3 million, or $2.45 a common share.

Shipments of aluminum products by Alcoa and its consolidated subsidiaries in 1972 totaled a record 1.65 million tons, up 24.5 percent over the 1.33 million tons shipped in 1971.

Production of primary aluminum in 1972 was 1.39 million tons, down slightly from 1.43 million tons in 1971. Alcoa has curtailed primary production since 1970 in an effort to bring production into better balance with demand. Due to increased demand, the company has restored some production since the first of the year and now is operating at 92 per cent of domestic capacity.

John D. Harper, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, said, "The general business level improved throughout 1972 and our shipments rose substantially. The resulting higher utilization of our production facilities contributed materially to the improvement in income from operations."

"Prices have been slow in responding to the great increase in demand. In late 1972, prices began to show some strength in some product areas, and there are indications that prices will continue to improve in 1973."

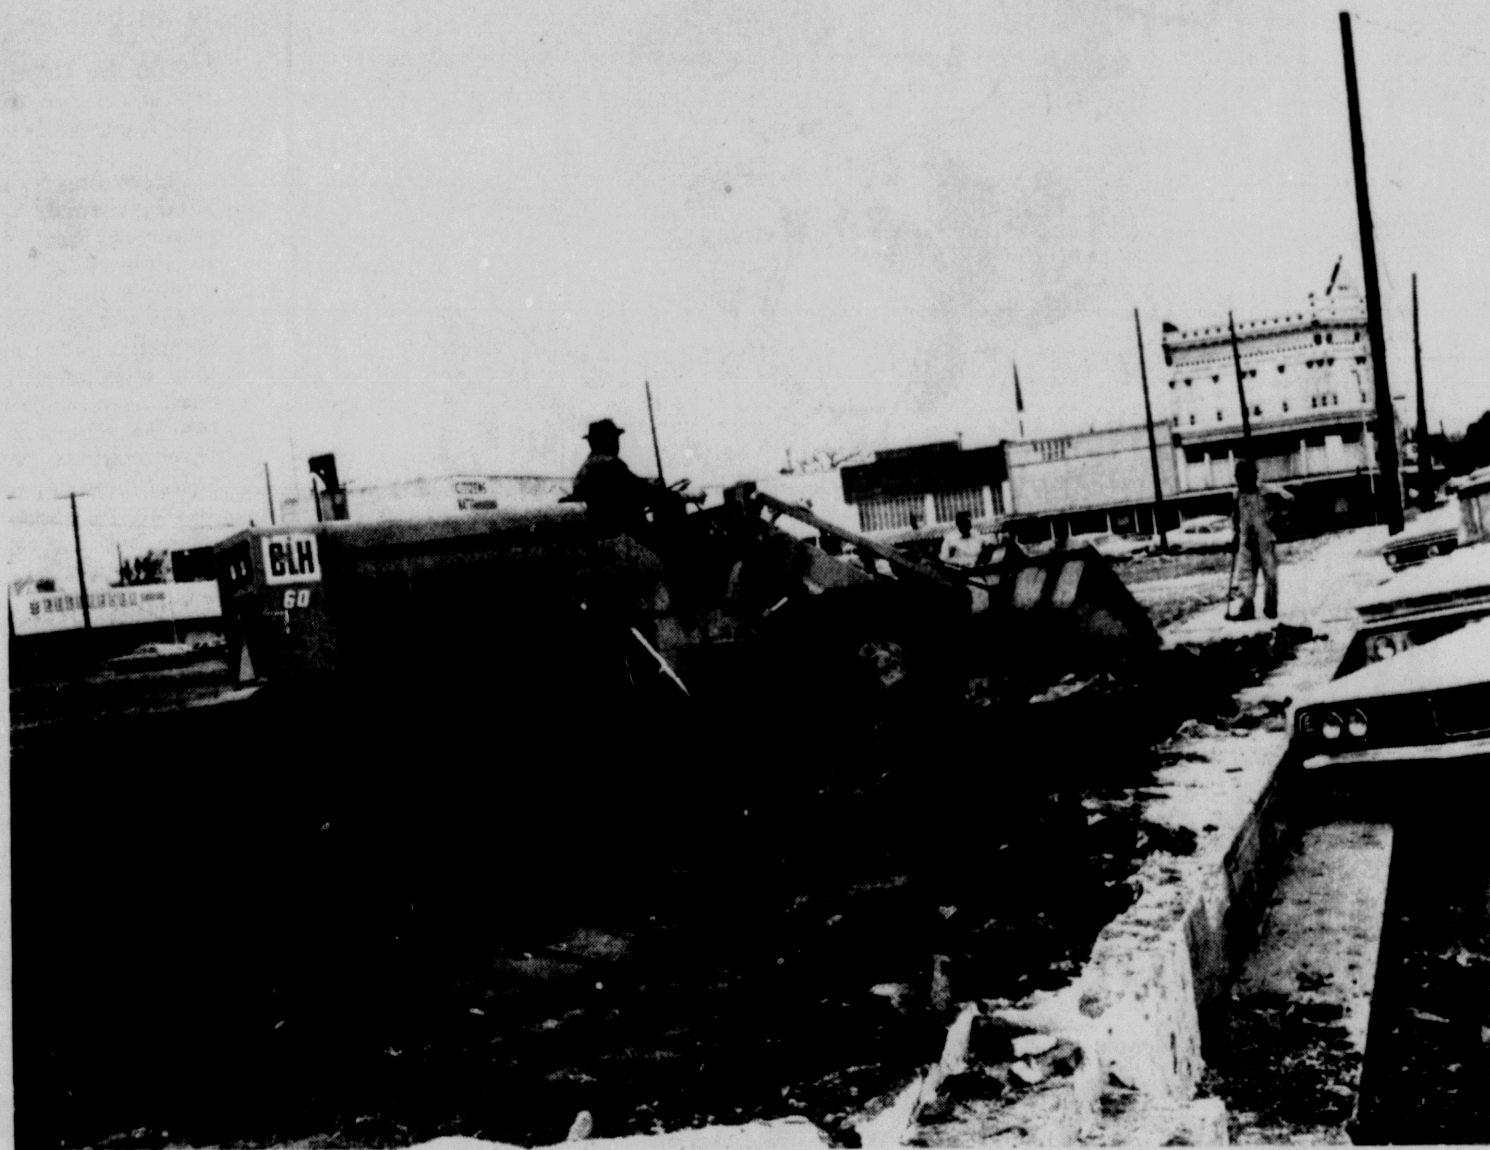

"Many costs, on the other hand, rose throughout the year. Among them were second-year increases that went into effect June 1 under labor contracts signed in 1971. Another area of substantial increase was in transportation."

The chief executive said Alcoa expects domestic aluminum industry shipments to increase about eight percent in 1973, compared with an estimated 12 to 14 percent increase in 1972.

"With business conditions continuing to improve," Harper said, "we should be able to realize revenues that better reflect the investment and production costs that go into our products."

In 1972, Alcoa's equity in earnings from real estate developments included earnings equal to $1.34 a share from the sale of the company's interest in three high rise apartment and commercial developments in New York.

Alcoa's annual report to shareholders will be mailed early in March. The company's 1973 annual meeting will be held Thursday, April 19, at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh.

CAMERON HAS BEEN accused of rolling up its sidewalks at night, well, here the sidewalks are really being rolled up and out in the parking - mall area of the center block downtown. New sidewalks and streets are the next phase of the city's urban renewal program, and this is the first step.

Trustee Elections Called By Area Boards

Trustee elections have been set and will be set this month by county and area school boards. Cameron's trustee election will be held April 7.

Filing deadline for the election is March 7, according to the superintendent's office. Candidates may file at the office.

Terms of Bentley House, Forrest Sapp, and Charles McDermott will expire this year. There have been no filings in the election.

Buckholts' election is also set for April 7, with terms of W. E. Beckhousen, Elbert Svetlik and Calvin Rachui expiring.

Terms of Arnold Kornegay and E. C. Westbrook Jr. will expire at Milano, where the trustee election will be held April 7.

Thorndale will set a trustee election at its February board meeting, with terms of James Terry and Herman Wise up for election.

April 7 is also the date for Rockdale's school board election. Terms of Bryce Crow and Dr. P. M. Young will expire this year.

Rosebud-Lott will set its election at the February board meeting. Terms up for election include those of Calvin Prince, Nelson Malcik and Dowell Hailey.

City Council Election

The three councilmen whose terms expire this year have filed for re-election with the city secretary. They are Lawrence Zott, Bob Clark, and Starrett Hickman. Deadline for filing is March 3.

Cameron PTA Votes To Endorse Bond Issue

The Cameron PTA voted unanimously to endorse the proposed school bond election set for February 15 at its regular meeting last week.

Calvin Cobb, president of the local school board outlined briefly what the proposed bond election will include.

The bond election is for $885,000 and is the second issue to come before local voters within the last six months. A proposal for a $1,250,000 bond issue was defeated last October.

The new bond issue reflects a $340,000 "trimming" of the first proposal and includes:

--Construction of an addition to the ag department;

--New classrooms for Yoe, including labs, and Ben Milam School for the use of kindergarten students, necessary for compulsory kindergarten attendance in the next few years;

--New furniture and equipment for the additional classrooms, including lab equipment;

--Complete renovation of restrooms at Ada Henderson and Yoe High School;

--Construction of a new physical education plant.

This plan eliminated from the original proposal:

--Outside skin of washed pebbles for all schools on the Yoe campus, including Ada Henderson and Ben Milam;

--Covered walkways between all buildings;

--Covered play area for Ben Milam which could have been converted to extra classrooms later on.

--Renovation of the old gym for girls physical education classes, including moving of three classrooms and converting the space to a media center and teacher's lounge and install new showers;

--The addition of a new classroom, two offices and two new restrooms to Yoe High, replacing old floors and carpeting in the library;

--New floors and lighting fixtures for Ada Henderson.

The new plan also represents a $60,000 reduction in the cost of the physical education plant.

The new construction and renovations total $748,450, with $74,845 added for contingencies and escalation and $61,705 for professional fees.

Bentsen Urges Competitive Gas Pricing

Senator Lloyd Bentsen today said the fuel shortage in Texas cities during the recent cold snap is the best possible evidence of the urgent need for Congressional action to allow a return to competitive natural gas pricing.

"There is no doubt in my mind that enforcement of these bureaucratic regulations down through the years is largely responsible for the natural gas shortage facing our nation," the Senator said. "And it is high time that we in the Congress put a stop to them."

"Texas is the largest gas producing state in our nation," Bentsen said. "And the fact that it cannot supply enough fuel to heat its own cities is dramatic evidence of the problem it will have in continuing to satisfy the needs of the Midwest and Northeast."

"The current shortage results from an artificial Federal price ceiling on interstate sales and has depressed all exploration for natural gas reserves."

"Since 1954, the Federal Power Commission has been holding the field price of natural gas below its actual market value at a time when exploration costs have been increasing," Bentsen continued.

"This regulation, intended to benefit interstate natural gas customers has, instead, resulted in injury to all consumers by causing a shortage of a commodity we all desperately need."

Senator Bentsen called upon the Congress to remove Federal regulation of producers of natural gas and to allow a return to competitive pricing, renewing a plea he has made in the past.

CITY TO ENFORCE DOG ORDINANCE

The city will again try to enforce its dog leash law, following action by the city council in a regular meeting Tuesday evening. Vote was to enforce the dog ordinance "in full."

This means that dogs running loose in the city, whether collared or not, will be picked up by a dog catcher who will start work February 12.

The dogs will be placed in the city pound and owners must claim them within three days and pay a $3 fee or the dogs will be destroyed.

Action followed a statement by Mayor Gene Blake that too many complaints have been received about the dog problem.

The council heard the first reading of a dangerous and unsafe buildings ordinance, which will provide for the removal of dilapidated buildings in the city.

In other business, the council:

--Moved to grant a one-year permit to the Yellow Checker Cab Co., with the stipulation that the company provide 24-hour service, as outlined in the city taxicab ordinance.

The mayor stated that complaints had been received about cab drivers unsafe driving, and cautioned the owner about the situation.

--Discussed the naming of a planning committee to work with the Annual Arrangements Program, new federal program for which the city is eligible. The committee will be named at a called meeting later on.

--Voted to buy 20 new fireplugs out of revenue sharing funds.

--Discussed purchasing two 12,000-gallon storage tanks for gasoline and diesel fuel to be used by city equipment.

--Voted to advertise three old trucks for sale.

--Noted that the streets are in bad shape following wet weather and asked citizens to bear with the city until repairs can be made.

--Voted to help pay expenses for a policeman who is attending officers school at Killeen.

--Discussed replacing worn stop signs and other signs within the city.

--Heard a complaint from a citizen who said the hog and cow situation on West 8th St. is "unbearable." He was advised to sign written complaints in order for the city attorney to begin action against the situation.

Funds Sought For

Thomas Memorial

More funds are needed for the planting of the Yoe High horseshoe as a lasting memorial to the late Hilliard Thomas, past president of the Cameron school board.

The old, diseased rose bushes have been dug up and ground is being prepared for planting evergreen shrubs. Plans for the planting are being drawn up by James Kahler and Donald Glass, local greenhouse owners.

Plans were made for the memorial early last year, and several hundred dollars have been collected for the project, according to Supt. D. R. Dodson.

Contributions to the memorial may be made at the superintendent's office.

Cub Scouts To Hold

Blue & Gold Banquet

Cameron Cub Scouts Blue and Gold Banquet will be held Monday, February 12 at 7 p.m. in Methodist Fellowship Hall, according to John Henderson Jr., local Cubmaster.

The program will include the commemorating of "Famous Americans," the presentation of awards, and the recognition of ten boys who are graduating to the Webelos group, and recognition of the three new adult leaders for the Webelos.

February is Boy Scout Month but Cameron troops are not planning any special observance of the month, according to Ron Derry, Texas District executive.

4 Watersheds Affect County Environment

Man's concern for the care of the basic foundation of his environment is serious business for farmers and ranchers in Milam County. Four local groups within Milam and parts of adjoining counties have organized to protect and to properly manage the natural resources of their particular watershed area.

The four watersheds within the Milam County area are: parts of Lower Brushy, Donahoe Creek, Pond Creek and Elm Creek, according to Wayne Mann, director of the local Soil Conservation office.

Each group has received a State charter providing a business structure necessary to construct or implement in a legal, technical and financial manner the objectives of their watershed projects.

These projects cover an area of approximately 200,000 acres, or 33 percent of the county.

Of the active watersheds, two are active in construction and two have not had a construction start. To date, four floodwater retarding structures have been built and two critical sediment source areas have received special treatment.

With the construction of all the planned structures and the application of all the land treatment measures in these watersheds the total area flooded each year will be reduced by about 75 percent, according to Mann.

These local watershed groups have or will receive assistance from federal and state agencies in the development of a total environmental approach to control soil erosion, rainfall runoff, and to detain flood waters and store soil sediments in reservoirs constructed within each watershed, Mann said.

To implement this approach takes not only federal and local monies, but involves the effort of each landowner within the watershed in the proper management of his soil and rainfall runoff.

More Than New Face...

A new phase of downtown development began this week with removal of old sidewalks around the mall-parking block.

Engineering and architectural landscaping are apparently complete for the final phase of building back the mall-fountain area and off-street parking.

Downtown streets and sidewalk are included in this phase and are due removal and replacement with modern counterparts. For some parts of downtown, it will be the first new curbing sidewalk levels and heights in this century.

These improvements will enhance what has been done in building improvement or removal.

The pluses will begin to show more dramatically as these surface improvements are added to the cleared lots and blocks. The finished product will be a new face with a lot more to back up the cosmetology.

Style And Substance...

The 60s manifested a lot of style and form.

The 70s are requiring considerable re-examination of the substance or the lack of it.

To resolve problems of urban crime and sprawl and national inertia and ennui, the country will require form and substance of its people.

It is an extraordinary opportunity for intelligent application of solutions. It will require style to interest the young, substance to bring on the adult.

It will be a time when we say good-bye to anti-delinquency thinking, yet we will require strength the concluded Vietnam war sapped.

Style? Yes. Substance? Yes. Either without the other will not make it.

Public Places*

Fire engines roar up to a house across the street, and you hurry over to watch the excitement. If a newspaper photographer snaps your picture and you wind up on the front page of a local newspaper, has your "right of privacy" been violated?

The law's answer is no. Even though the right of privacy has expanded in recent years, it does not override the freedom of the press to report legitimate news. As a spectator at a public event, you were part of the news. All the photographer did was to record what anyone who was there could have seen anyhow.

Even if a person specifically forbids publicity, he does not thereby become immune.

In one case, the irate father in a custody fight ordered reporters to "lay off" the story. But the story appeared anyhow—with pictures. The man claimed invasion of his privacy, but a court decided that he had no legal kick coming.

"There are times," said the court, "when one, willingly or not, becomes an actor in an occurrence of public interest. When this takes place, he emerges from his seclusion, and it is not an invasion of privacy to publish his photograph with an account of such occurrence."

On the other hand, an item of information does not automatically become newsworthy just because a newspaper sees fit to print it. For example:

A newspaper published a notice by a hardware dealer, complaining about a certain customer's unpaid bill. This time, when the customer sued the newspaper for invasion of his privacy, he won a judgment. The court said that in any fair sense, this private debt was simply none of the public's business.

"Presently there is no single Federal agency with the statutory authority or manpower to hold hearings or initiate such extensive investigations."

"Until now, consumers have had no formal or effective voice on consumer problems. Various agencies throughout the Federal Government protect the interests of many special interest groups. Farmers, laborers, and businessmen are all represented by various Federal agencies or departments. However, the single largest interest group in the country—the American consumer—is without direct and specific representation..."

"The public confidence in consumer management and protection must be restored, and I believe the passage of the Consumer Protection Act of 1973 will be an effective first step in restoring this confidence..."

CRUMP'S GRASS
ROOT COMMENT

The Consumer Protection Act of 1972 passed in the House but died in the Senate. Rep. Holifield (Calif.) claimed that "hit-picking" by Ralph Nader played into the hands of interests opposing the bill. Undoubtedly, Ralph Nader will again be on hand to debate the merits of the 1973 Act.

I have joined with my many colleagues who have sponsored this legislation because we share a common concern for providing a realistic and feasible solution to many of the problems which plague the American consumer."

"The Consumer Protection Act of 1973 is in many ways landmark legislation. It provides citizens with effective means of fighting the unfair and unconscionable acts perpetrated on the consumer by some businesses and some Government agencies. I believe it will be the strongest possible consumer protection legislation to emerge from the 93rd Congress..."

This new office is designed to coordinate the various consumer programs throughout the Federal bureaucracy. This office will assure that consumer programs are moving in the same direction and that there will be no duplication of effort..."

Wake Island Claimed By Marshall Islanders

By Jon Anderson

SAIPAN

Leaders of a nation of 20,000 people are challenging "U. S. Imperialism" on a territorial claim they are ready to take to the United Nations or world court for settlement.

Wake Island, an almost forgotten American outpost in the Pacific now controlled by the U. S. Air Force, is suddenly being claimed by the neighboring Marshall Islands.

The 20,000 Marshallese, living on a string of tiny palm fringed atolls in the central Pacific, form part of the U. S. administered trust territory of the Pacific, most of which will gain their independence in some form or other in the near future.

The U. S. annexed the three atolls of Wake in 1899 and the island reached its pinnacle of glory as the site of the first major land battle between American and Imperial Japanese forces in the World War II.

Now the Marshallese claim the island is in fact Enen-Kio, for centuries a food source is not a permanent settlement for their ancestors.

Their claim to Wake is now being considered by the congress of Micronesia, highest lawmaking body for the vast Pacific trust territory, in the capital Saipan.

Chief Marshallese spokesman on the issue is Senator Ataji Balos, a member of the Micronesian congress, who says: "If necessary I will go to the United Nations and the International Court of Justice to press our claim for Enen-Kio."

"The U. S. is there by occupation, but we own the island."

The 33 lawmakers of the congress, only six of them from the Marshall Island group, are being asked to adopt a resolution that "Enen-Kio is and always has been the property of the people of the Marshall Islands and forms and integral part of the trust territory."

The claim to wake is based on oral legends and songs passed from through generations and remembered today by only a few of the older islanders.

Dwight Heine, a Marshallese well-versed in his peoples' traditions and also a specialist consultant to the U. S. appointed territory high commissioner, says Wake was never a permanent settlement because it was too small and dry.

But ancient Marshallese did make many voyages to the island and considered it a food source, as well as the surrounding waters.

The atoll also has religious significance as a source of a sacred bird's bone wing used in traditional Marshallese tattooing ceremonies.

Never particularly important from a military standpoint, Wake was the scene of fighting at the outbreak of the Pacific war. Japanese troops attacked the atoll on the same day the famous attack on Pearl Harbour was carried out in 1941.

When Wake's small garrison finally surrendered two weeks later the island's name became a rallying cry for U. S. Marines throughout the Pacific.

Before and since the war Wake was an important stopping place for trans-Pacific military and civilian flights.

Pan American Airways established a seaplane base in 1935. But modern long-range jets have since made the stop unnecessary.

PANAM pulled out in 1971 and the U. S. federal Aviation Administration, which had controlled the island, pulled out its personnel and handed over the facilities to the air force, which maintains a 9,800-foot runway and navigational equipment.

It is estimated several hundred Americans still live on Wake, although some military officials now believe the island may soon become obsolete in strategic planning.

If so, Wake, like another nearby Marshallese atoll, Eniwetok, could be handed back to local ownership.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Now that the 10-year-old Viet Nam war is over—not only was it the longest war in history of the U. S. but it's the only war in the history of the world I guess where both sides claim they won—everybody is saying we ought to get back to domestic issues.

And the first rattle out of the box I ran into an issue which certainly is a domestic one.

According to an article I read yesterday in a newspaper my banker handed me in lieu of a loan, there is a move on to allow housewives to qualify for Social Security. The argument is that a housewife works as hard as a woman in an office or a factory and therefore ought to be covered by Social Security benefits.

This no doubt is a fine idea, but I got to thinking. If they qualify for Social Security, wouldn't they also qualify for unemployment compensation?

Now there's an area that may be too big for even the Supreme Court to handle. Where is the man with nerve enough to sit in judgement over when a housewife is working and when she's unemployed?

Oh, I know some housewives work 40 hours a week, some maybe even 60, but on the other hand there are those who...well you show me the man who's going to wade into that situation.

I've always contended that there never was an office, however obscure or dangerous or under-paid, some man wouldn't run for, just as there never was a man, however sorry, some woman wouldn't marry, but you find me the government bureau brave enough to go into a home and write down how many hours a housewife is working, especially if its agents went in right in the middle of a soap opera or busted up a bridge game.

Would a woman with seven kids ages 1 to 8 get no more Social Security credit than one with two away at school, a maid and a 26-inch color T. V. set?

Such problems like that might make the Viet Nam war settlement look like it was child's play, and I doubt if you could get Henry Kissinger to tackle it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Texans Escape Epidemic

HOUSTON

Texans appear to have escaped a serious flu epidemic this year, but they can expect a true epidemic of influenza around 1975 according to Dr. Vernon Knight, chairman of the department of microbiology and immunology at Baylor College of Medicine.

Dr. Knight said there have been several obvious cases of the flu infection in Texas this year, but the cases reported were not numerous enough to be classified as an epidemic.

The type of influenza virus that hit Texas and the rest of the nation in 1973 is officially designated A/Engl- and 42 72, better known as the London or England flu. Dr. Knight said that this same virus did result in isolated epidemics throughout the nation, especially in California and on the East Coast.

Dr. Knight said that Texans did experience a flu epidemic in 1972, and that there is a strong probability that the scourge was caused by the same England strain which resulted in flu outbreaks this year. Thus, some persons in Texas retained immunity to the viral strain and were not afflicted with the temporarily debilitating disease in 1973.

We have had a beautiful weekend maybe if the sun continues to shine for a few more days the farmers can get back in the fields, and on with their work.

There were several visitors at the San Gabriel Baptist Church for the Sunday morning worship hour and among them were Mrs. Ma-beth Gilchrist and her mother, Mrs. Jones, from Marlin.

Bobbie Case and Cleo Con-grady both teachers at Alvin spent the weekend with Bobbie's mother, Mrs. Ora Case and aunts, Misses El-la and Tina Yeager at Thorn-dale.

"Happy birthday" was sung to Mrs. Gene Northcott and Sherry Robinson and Tammy Caffey Sunday morn-ing at San Gabriel Baptist Church.

Mrs. W. W. Terry cele-brated her 88th birthday with open house at her home in San Gabriel. The relatives that came for the occasion were the Gayle Wrights of Yoakum, Mrs. Pat Fletcher and Mrs. Warner Pearce of Dallas, the Fred Peares and sons of Houston, the Rockney Terrys of Austin, Dr. and Mrs. Buell Cairns of Rockdale and Mrs. Horace Reinert of Thorndale, and many friends and relatives of this community came to wish her a 'happy birthday.' She returned to Yoakum with her daughter Sunday after-noon.

Randy Robinson of Sam Houston spent the weekend with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Wor-ley returned to their home here Sunday after over three months at Seagraves.

Mrs. Maude Yeager received word this past week of the death of her sister, Lula, who lived in Missis-sippi. Mrs. Yeager was un-able to attend the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Har-ry Gambill and son Bobby of Longview, spent the week-end in the home of his par-ents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gambill and El-a-ine, and they all went to Taylor for dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Evans and sons Travis and Chan-dler of near Caldwell were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kay of Troy visited her sisters, Mrs. Jim Stewart and Mrs. Hugo Linke of this commu-nity and Mrs. Flora Henry of Rockdale Saturday.

Mrs. Howard Fulcher came by her home here Sunday on her way to the Blue Bonnet Rest Home in Granger for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wu-thrich of Austin were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heine.

ASCS News

Set-aside requirements of the 1973 Feed Grain Program are being reduced in order to achieve larger corn and soybean crops and thereby meet an increase in domestic and export demand which has developed since the program was announced Dec. 11, Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said today.

The required set aside for full compliance has been changed from 30 to 25 percent of a producer's feed grain base and for participants electing not to comply fully with the set-aside program, the required set aside has been changed from 15 to 0 percent.

If the participant sets aside an acreage equal to 25 percent of his base, the payment rate will be 32 cents per bushel for corn, 30 cents per bushel for grain sorghum and 26 cents per bushel for barley on one-half the feed grain base.

Through a combination of the set-aside payment and the 5-month (October-February) national average market price for the respective grains, participants who set aside 25 percent of their feed grain base will be guaranteed a national average return equal to 70 percent of parity on Oct. 1, 1973.

This guarantee is based on production from one-half of their corn, grain sorghum, or barley bases. Supplemental payments, if any, to such farmers will be made as soon as possible after March 1, 1974.

Producers who elect not to set aside acreage but do not increase their feed grain acreage above 1972 will be eligible for a lower payment rate of 15 cents per bushel for corn, 14 cents per bushel for grain sorghum and 12 cents per bushel on barley on one-half the feed grain base.

Legislation Seeks Return Of REAP

Legislation reinstating the Soil and Water Conservation program known as REAP (Rural Environmental Assistance Program) was approved today by the House Committee on Agriculture.

After three days of public hearings, the Committee, by a 26 to 8 roll call vote, with one member voting "present," ordered favorably reported a bill (H. R. 2107) designed to reverse the action of the Department of Agriculture, which on December 26 announced termination of REAP. The bill reported was one of 28 similar proposals introduced by 95 Members of Congress.

were John A. Smith, Mrs. Edwin Lehmann, Edwin Lehmann, A. T. Swanzy and H. M. Yager.

County FB presidents, legislative and membership chairmen from all over Texas attended the two-day session. Purpose of the conference was to discuss major issues confronting the 63rd Legislature and plan ways and means of implementing Farm Bureau's policies relating to those issues.

A highlight of the meeting was a visit to the State Capitol where the local farm leaders met with Rep. Dan Kubiak and Senator Bill Patman.

Another feature of the meeting was the banquet Jan. 30 attended by county FB leaders, high state government officials and legislators. TFB President J. T. (Red) Woodson outlined the organization's legislative program for those in attendance.

TFB Legislative staff members led a discussion on legislative effectiveness in a workshop for legislative chairmen. In another workshop, membership chairmen discussed plans for membership drives in 1973.

The conference program also included state legislators who explained major issues before the 63rd Legislature.

EGG WAS FIRST

The egg came before the chicken. Birds evolved from reptile stock that was laying eggs millions of years before the first prehistoric bird flew, the National Geographic Society says.

'Low Energy Grubbing' Effective For Mesquite

LUBBOCK

A new approach to controlling mesquite regrowth has proven successful in research conducted by Harold Wiedemann, agricultural engineer with the Texas Experiment Station at Lubbock.

The method, called "low-energy grubbing," is so named because a low-energy highly maneuverable tractor equipped with a specially designed blade is used to cut tree roots below the soil's surface.

"Reinfestation of pastures by mesquite seedlings and other species is a problem following all brush treatments," says Wiedemann, who performed the grubbing research in 1971 and 1972 as a part of continuing program in brush control. "A low-cost treatment has been needed to maintain control of brush so that benefits of initial brush control treatment would not be lost."

"We wanted to utilize the power grubbing method because it is highly efficient," Wiedemann declares, "since it positively cuts the tree's tap root below the bud zone and prevents sprouting. The large 100-horsepower crawler tractors normally used have not been practical for small tree grubbing because of their high cost of operation."

The agricultural engineer explains that instead, a John Deere 450-B with about 45 drawbar horsepower was adapted for the small brush jobs by attaching a sharp u-shaped blade to the front c-frame for cutting the roots six to twelve inches below the soil's surface.

"This shift-on-the-go tractor averaged 11.1 acres per hour while grubbing 35 of the 46 trees per acre on 1,400-acre site at Pitchfork Ranch near Guthrie," Wiedemann reports. "The mesquite trees, which ranged from one to six feet tall, were reinfestations which followed hand grubbing in the 1940's and oiling in the 1950's. Of the 11 trees per acre missed, most were less than 18 inches tall and not easily seen by the operator."

Wiedemann says that averages of 14 and 7.7 acres per hour were recorded for two different operators.

"This exemplifies the importance of a good operator," he explains. "At a tractor contract cost of $12.50 per hour, the brush control practice averaged $1.13 per acre. Utilizing the more efficient operator the control would have cost only 89 cents per acre."

During the course of the experiment a hydraulic attachment was designed to increase the capacity of the unit. The hydraulic grubber's blade can be adjusted for changes in soil type and moisture condition, and large stumps four to six inches in diameter can be split by activation of the hydraulic cylinders while the blade is engaged in the stump.

"The average mesquite root diameter for the research site at point of cut was 2.7 inches with a range from one to six inches," Wiedemann points out. "The hydraulic grubber should be advantageous in diameters over three inches, but further testing will be necessary."

Wiedemann says this type of maintenance grubbing could be used effectively and economically to control light reinfestation by mesquite two to five feet tall following root plowing or tree grubbing, or following aerial spraying and chaining on shallow hill sites where the original mesquite stumps were fairly small.

4-H Club Activities

By Rodney B. Kruse

Eighteen men from Cameron, Rockdale, Thorndale and Milano met to discuss the county Junior Livestock Show Monday night.

Steve Beattie, Cameron was elected chairman of the show directors. Wayne Fleming will serve as secretary, with Ed Laywell serving as finance chairman. Erwin Fuessel, Thorndale will serve as cattle superintendent; Claude Spence will serve as the new board director from Rockdale.

It was decided to leave rules as they are. Steers to show in breed and crossbred classes and not by weights. Beef heifers can be shown until they have calved. Ewe lambs can show in fat lamb class and unbred gilts can be shown in barrow class.

Attending from Cameron were Ed Laywell, Wayne Fleming, Joe Walzel, Steve Beattie, Henry Richter, Bo Tittsworth, Vernon Wilfert, Donald Lemon, Morris Coward, John Snell, Bill McCutchen and myself.

Attending from Rockdale were Claude Spence and Billy Hall.

Attending from Thorndale was Erwin Fuessel, from Milano was Shelby Smith, attending from Buckholts were Dennis Tomascik and Tim Johnson.

Santa Fe Orders New Hopper Cars

Santa Fe Railway is ordering an additional 1,000 new hundred-ton covered hopper cars at a cost of $18 million, John S. Ree, chairman and chief executive officer, announced today.

These cars are in addition to a previous order for the same number of jumbo hoppers announced last August which are currently being delivered with completion scheduled for this month. This order together with other equipment purchases, increases Santa Fe Railway's planned capital expenditures for 1973 to $145 million.

In the United States, three persons out of 100,000 live to be 100, National Geographic says. In the Soviet republic of Azerbaijan, the rate is 63 per 100,000.

MR. FARMER OR RANCHER

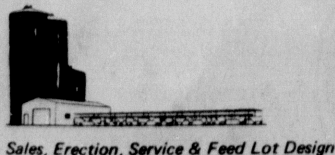

We invite you, your wife and neighbors to attend a Harvestore Management Seminar, which will feature Dr. Lowell M. Schake, Associate Professor of Animal Science at Texas A&M. Dr. Schake will discuss forage handling systems, and how sorghum and sorghum hybrids are used for successful feeding of beef cows.

Harvestore-processed high moisture grains are worth more. University research and owner experience has shown that the milo plant is mature at 30 to 35% moisture in the kernel, and at that stage will produce 27% more beef per acre. This could be one way to market your grain and forages through cattle in a more efficient manner. Come to the seminar and find out more information.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Is it true that the standard deduction has been increased for the 1972 tax year?

A. The percentage standard deduction has been increased. Instead of multiplying your adjusted gross income by 13 percent, now you multiply by 15 percent. The top limit was $1,500. Now it is $2,000.

Q. How can I tell whether I should itemize my deductions or choose the standard deduction?

A. It usually will be to your advantage to itemize deductions if: you are a homeowner paying interest and taxes; you had unusually large medical and dental expenses during the year; you paid alimony; suffered a major uninsured casualty loss; or made large contributions to qualified charities. This year many taxpayers will be taking advantage of the increased standard deduction. Your tax form instructions contain a formula you may use to determine which method you should select.

Q. When can I expect to get my W-2 form?

A. Employers are required to issue W-2 statements to their employees by January 31.

Many, however, issue them sooner for the convenience of those employees who are expecting a refund and want to file early.

Q. Each year I hear of cases where refunds are delayed because taxpayers make errors on their returns. What are some checks I can make to avoid an error and get my refund faster?

A. To insure the prompt processing of your return, you should check the following before sending your return: 1. Recheck all your mathematical computations;

2. Be sure you used the correct tax table or tax rate schedule; 3. Be sure you used the peel-off label that came on the cover of your tax package. (If you don't have the label, print name, address, and Social Security number in the spaces at the top of the front of Form 1040 or Form 1040A); 4. Be sure that your return is signed and dated; joint returns must have the signatures of husband and wife; 5. Be certain all W-2's and supporting documents are attached.

Q. Can I designate more than $1 of my tax liability toward the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

A. If you are married, filing a joint return, you may designate $2 of your joint tax liability. But you may not designate extra money for this purpose.

Q. Where can I get a copy of your income tax guide?

A. A copy of "Your Federal Income Tax," Publication 17, may be purchased for 75 cents from your IRS district office, many post offices throughout the country and the Government Printing Office in Washington, D. C. If you operate your own business, you may also be interested in Publication 334, "Tax Guide for Small Business," which you may also purchase for 75 cents.

Style Show, Luncheon Committees Named

Committee appointments have been announced for the Arts and Service League's February 20 luncheon and style show by Mrs. James Camp, luncheon chairman. The luncheon and show "Country Fresh Fashions" will be at Methodist Fellowship Hall where tables will be covered in colorful gingham and lunches served in "country picnic" baskets.

In addition to committee appointments, Mrs. Camp announced that tickets, now available from League members, must be purchased in advance. Ticket sales end Monday, February 19.

Committee appointments are:

Food - Mrs. Bernay Dusek, chairman; Mrs. Forrest Sapp, Mrs. Ed Cauley, and Mrs. Maxie Morgan.

Decorations - Mrs. William Kelm, chairman; Mrs. Charles Chandler, Mrs. Richard Crowe, Mrs. Monroe Fuchs, Mrs. Donald Pimpf, Mrs. John Henderson and Mrs. Delbert Burlison.

Publicity - Mrs. Don Humble, chairman; Mrs. Ed Magre and Mrs. Kenneth Thweatt.

Fashion Show - Mrs. Bill Dase, chairman. Models will include Mrs. Jimmy Woodum, Mrs. Paul Young, Mrs. Walter Pyle, Jr., Mrs. Larry Coker, Mrs. Dana Kestbaum, Mrs. Griffin Barrett and Miss Gail Jeter.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Esquivel Rangel of Cameron, a boy, Rudy Juan Santillano, 8 pounds 2 ounces, born 6:22 a.m. February 1 at St. Edward Hospital.

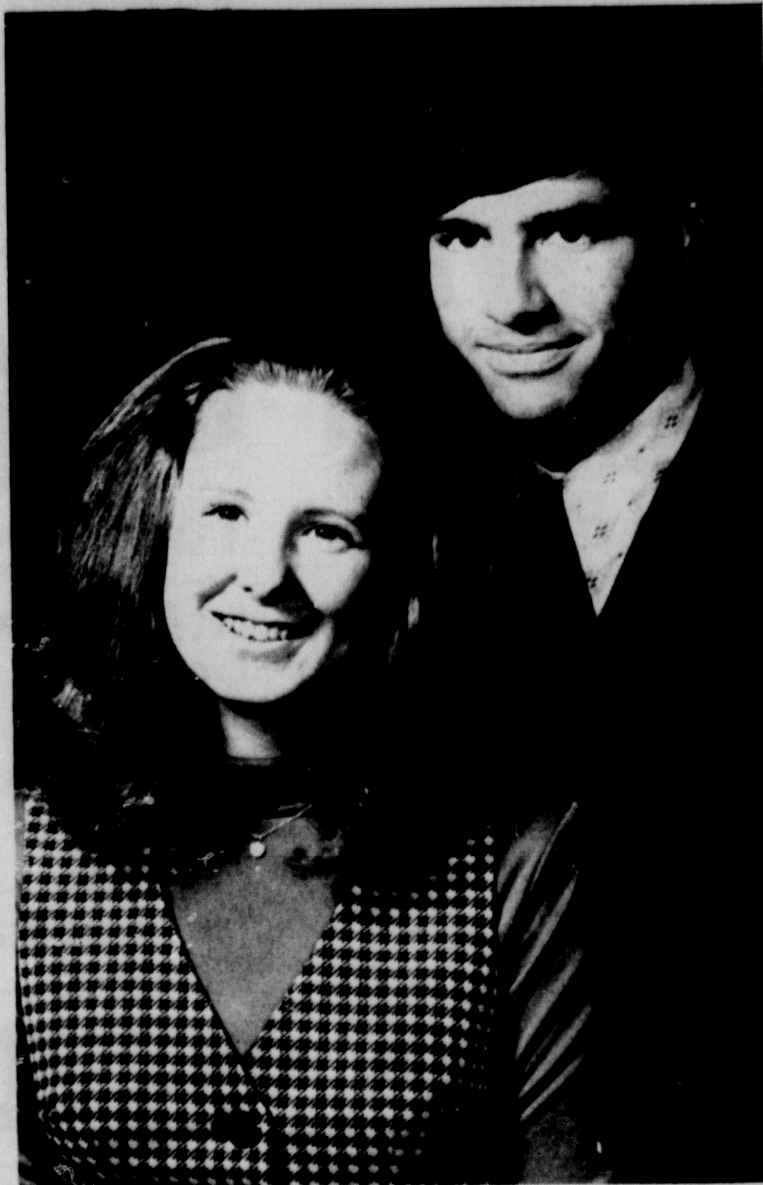

To Mr. and Mrs. Larry W. DuBose of Milano, a girl, Sonya Kay, 6 pounds 10 ounces, born 5:11 p.m. February 1 at St. Edward Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Blake of Milano and M. A. DuBose of Bryan.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Litzman, Jr., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anita, to Danny Matula, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Matula, Jr. of Cameron.

The bride-elect is a December 1972 graduate of Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. The prospective groom is a senior marketing major at Baylor University.

A late February wedding is planned at St. Mary of the Assumption Chapel in Waco.

ENGAGED - Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Sommerfeld of Valley Mills announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Bonnie Kay, to John Wayne Hosch, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hosch of Buckholts. The bride-elect is a senior Business Communications major at Baylor University. The future groom is in the United States Air Force and presently stationed at Bergstrom Air Base in Austin. He is a 1969 graduate of Yoe High School and a 1971 graduate of Texas State Technical Institute. John is the grandson of Mr. Frank Valka of Cameron and Mrs. Mary Hosch of Temple. A July wedding is planned.

MARRIED - Miss Elizabeth Cockrell became the bride of Mr. Robert Drayton McLane Jr. at a Friday evening wedding in the First Baptist Church of Temple. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roy Cockrell of Belton and the late Mr. Cockrell. Mr. McLane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drayton McLane Sr. of Cameron. Following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, they will make their home in Temple where Mr. McLane is associated with McLane Co., Inc.

ENGAGED - Mrs. Joy Smith of Ft. Worth has announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter Peggy Thweatt to Air Force Sgt. Jack Hays, son of Mrs. Elzora Hays of Stinnett. A family wedding is planned for February 24 at the home of the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. Bill Thweatt, at Rt. 2, Cameron.

DKG Explores Cultural Forms

Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met for a brunch Saturday, at Houston's Restaurant in Marlin.

Miss Frances Forbes of Marlin, chairman of the Professional Affairs Committee introduced the program

"The Expressive Dimension of Culture" in art forms, technology, and spiritual dimensions. Speakers on the panel were Mrs. Geneva Hughes of Marlin, Mrs. Helen Ligon of Lott, and Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick of Reagan. Mrs. Mary Frances Glass of Rosebud presented music.

Mrs. Hughes discussed art as the culture that eternalizes the values of a race. She played records of African, American Indian, and modern classical music. In literature, she showed that myths give insight to a people's philosophy, including religion. She read excerpts from poems of different ages. For art, she showed paintings by well known artists. She pointed out such art forms as oriental sculpture, Indian totems, the China Wall, the Taj Mahal, the Eiffel Tower in Paris built for an era and an age, and the written word of Persia. Her concluding sentence was: "Today is a mere pause on the way to tomorrow in art."

For technology, Mrs. Ligon told of the influence of the computer with its boundless ability. "No other innovation has changed the way of life in the world so much in so short a time, for it is even more revolutionary than the printing press," she noted. In 1954, she said there were fewer than ten in the world, all in the United States. Today, there are already 100,000 in the United States. Mrs. Ligon reminded that however great the power of the computer, it is only as smart as the person handling it, that nothing has ever been invented comparable to the human brain, and that rather than replacing human power, the computer has helped men to have more jobs.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's subject was "Spiritual Values Which Formulate Ideals." She stated that the spiritual is faith at work and "the benediction on all that has been accomplished in the world. Spiritual needs are man's greatest needs."

She named the five foremost religions of the world as Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism with its base in the Old Testament, Mohammedism, and Christianity with its doctrine of Christly love.

"Mankind is ever reaching out, searching, for spiritual satisfaction, which can be found only in spiritual values," she concluded.

The next meeting for the chapter will be March 3, at Spring Lake Club.

Sports Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

THEY SAID IT:

Sports Editor of the Austin American: "Almost everybody around the SWCA was happy to see the NCAA end the cumbersome 1.6 grade point rule...but nobody will be happier than Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles. "This change will put 20% of the nation's best athletes within reach of major NCAA schools," commented Broyles. "Under the old rule they would have to enroll at NAIA schools or in junior colleges."

Bill Ellington, Darrell Royal's UT Assistant A. D. and Frosh Coach: "There's one good prospect coming here, and you can go ahead and quote me. I'm talking about Tommy Campbell, Odessa Permian's quarterback. He's a good'un. Yes, he can run, and he can throw and he's a good defensive back." Young Campbell, 6-1, 185, will be no stranger to longtime Burnt Orange fans. His Papa, Paul Campbell, was UT's 1948-49 All-SWC QB.

Bobby Wuensch, the 1969-70 UT All-America Offensive Tackle, on Baytown Sterling's drive to the State Class 4-A Finals: "That did not surprise me a bit. I will never be surprised at how well Al Dennis' teams do. You know that he coached Bill Atesis (UT's All-America 1970 Defensive End) and me at Houston Jones. We knew that that he was going to make a great head coach. Nobody can get it out of a player any better than Coach Dennis."

QUICKIES:

People around the SWC who saw Baylor's Roger Goore wham ball-carriers so often that he became an All-American, are not convinced he won't make the Houston Oilers one heckuva 200-pound linebacker. After all they once told Nick Buncanti he was too small for the NFL...Houston Oiler Linguist Bill Peterson was asked on a Houston TV Show For Ladies if his wife was affected by negative things said about him and his team. "Naw, it doesn't bother her," Peterson grinned, "she has skin like a duck."

Perhaps the Oilers knew what they were doing in drafting John Mataszak, the 6-7, 280-pound Tampa defensive end Number One, but didn't it take some kinda guts to turn down a trade for Bubba Smith? Since when does an untried kid out of Tiny Tampa draw as much water as Big Bubba? The drafting of Rice's Mark Williams is a shrewd move, for obvious reasons. A super punter, he can take that pressure of Quarterback Dan Pastorini, who had to double as the kicker last fall. Then, the Spring Woods lad, will be the only field-goal kicker the Oilers have had since some Columbia Blue Dummy sold Roy Gerela to Pittsburgh couple years ago because "He wasn't consistent."

Signs keep pointing to Broyles scuttling his Pro-type Arkansas offense. Now, Hog Receiver Coach Raymond Berry has signed to do the same for the Detroit Lions... Wonder what SMU's Wayne Morris will do now? The Super Frosh told writers he chose SMU over Texas because he would have had to block in the Wishbone. SMU fired Hayden Fry, who apparently promised him a non-blicking job on the Hill-top. And, what formation does Fry's successor, Dave Smith, employ? Why, the Wishbone, naturally.

News From Gause

By Mrs. Wanda Lee

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ganns of Houston spent the weekend here with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Slay and Cheryl. Mrs. Garry Holmes and two daughters of Houston and her mother, of Rockdale visited Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ditto.

The Jack Langes of Houston spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Louie Lange. Visitors during the week included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Turner and Mrs. Lillie Bell Kornegay of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hartsfield of Bryan. Visitors this past weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lange and Paula of West Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. August Clos and family of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Stuckey and children of Hearne.

Mrs. Sarah Bowling returned home Saturday, January 27th from a visit in Seguin with her sister Mrs. Nell Smith and another sister, Mrs. Lucille Ivey of Austin. Mrs. Bowling was expecting them to arrive the latter part of the week for a visit with her.

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Byron Goode and Erma Lee last week were Mrs. Goode's sisters and brother-in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Nororda and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bowen all of Salt Lake, Utah. Mrs. Linda Green and Suzette of Brenham visited the Goodees last weekend.

Mrs. F. B. Fisher came home from the hospital Saturday.

Mrs. Roger Kingsley spent one night last week in Bryan with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Weedon and Threasa.

Saturday night, Feb. 10, around 7 p.m. there will be a community Valentine Party at the Methodist Church Annex. Everyone is encouraged to attend this get-together.

With everyone so busy these days we sometimes don't take the time to visit with our friends and this party will be the perfect time to do so. Also dominoes, 42, cards and other games will be played.

We want this to be an evening everyone will enjoy.

As for the proper attire-- wear what you please-- that long skirt that's just been hanging in the closet, pants suit, or dress, and for the men - if you're more comfortable in a pair of jeans than a tuxedo wear them, just whatever you are most comfortable in.

There will be a Valentine box for the young and the young at heart. Bring your valentines and put them in the box. I'm sure some of our youngsters will delight in distributing them.

Refreshments of punch, cookies and sandwiches will be served. The ladies of the community are asked to furnish cookies and sandwiches.

I hope all of you are as enthused about this as I am. It sounds like so much fun!

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lee honored their son Craig with a birthday party Thursday, Feb. 1 in observance of his 8th birthday.

The children spent the party hours from 4 'til 5:30 playing Bingo and Pin the Tail on the Donkey. Prizes were awarded winners of the games.

After Craig opened his presents refreshments of cupcakes frosted with cherry frosting topped with a candy heart and red fruit punch was served.

Each child was given a valentine sucker and a box of candy valentine hearts before leaving.

Those attending included Diana and Jennifer Wilkins, Marshall and Tammy Brown, Vince Matthews, Regina Miller, Ray and Kevin Coats, Mrs. M. D. Brown, Mrs. Hollis Matthews, Mrs. Roy Gene Miller and Craig's brother, Lance and sisters, Kelly and Kristi.

Later Thursday night Craig's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Koye Cass joined he and his family for punch and birthday cake, that was made in the shape of a swan.

20,000 Texans Enrolled In Defensive Courses

An estimated 20,000 Texans are enrolled in 700 defensive Driving Courses being offered this month in all sections of the state, according to information released today by the Texas Safety Association.

"These Texans should become better drivers and, at the same time, save 10% on the major portion of their automobile insurance," J. U. Parker, TSA president, said in releasing the information.

"A study conducted by the National Safety Council shows that DDC graduates have 32.8% fewer accidents in the year after taking DDC. We expect a half million Texans to complete the DDC course during 1973 and, if the National Safety Council's study holds good in Texas, we can look forward to a significant reduction in the Texas traffic crash rate," Parker stated.

This picture of Carla makes me think of an old proverb my mother used to quote: "Precious things come in small packages."

Go ahead, mark me down for a doting dad. I'm quick to admit that my little girl is precious to me. With her loving arms about my neck I feel richer than a king. I walk into a room and see her eyes light up -- so who wants to be president? As she snuggles down among the blankets, I kiss her and tell myself that I'll give her the best, now and always.

That's why I take her to church every Sunday. I want God to be a part of Carla's life from the very first. I know that an understanding of God and His love will ensure my daughter's well-being far beyond any material gift I could give her.

God's goodness is yours for the taking. Enrich your life. Go to your church, and take your family with you.

SCOUTING'S 63rd Anniversary Celebration

Boy Scouts Are Great Sports

It's much more than crafts and woodlore. Scouting today meets boys where they are and works with their immediate needs . . .

organized sports, for instance. Now:

discover the new Scouting programs.

Scouting. It Knows No Limits

There are no city limits or county lines in Scouting. A boy is a boy, whether he comes from a big metropolis or a farming community. His interests may differ, but his high goals never vary—working to better the community or working at developing a personal skill. He will give his all to achieve good sportsmanship as well as to conservation. He is a realist who deals honestly with himself on all counts. Bright, alert and proud of what he stands for, the only limit he might strive for is the sky. We think he'll make it.

Scouting Is: Soaring Dreams

Down-to-earth instructions. Boy Scouts have come a long way. Activities are diversified—from conservation to aviation. Scouting's more than you thought? You bet!

Highway Bridge To Link Istanbul With Europe

By Dmitri Nesteroff

ISTANBUL

A 2,000-year-old dream will soon be fulfilled as a six-lane highway opens linking Europe and Asia.

Half of it is already there, the middle section suspended eerily over the fast flowing waters. For the bridge that will join the city of Istanbul in Europe with the mainland of Asia just across the Bosphorus is being built from the center, slowly reaching towards the two continents.

To bridge the Bosphorus has been one of man's dreams for more than 2,000 years, since Jason sailed through in search of his golden fleece and conquerors such as Alexander the Great and much later Ottoman Mehmet II forced their way across.

The great Persian King, Darius, achieved it with a pontoon bridge. It was enough to carry his troops over on their way to Greece, but was quickly washed away by the treacherous currents and not enough to provide him with a lasting memorial.

The bridge will open later this year, coinciding with the 50th anniversary of the Turkish Republic, and be named after the founder of Modern Turkey, Kemal Attaturk.

With a main span of 1,175 yards, it will be the fourth longest suspension bridge in the world, ranking after the Verrazano Narrows Bridge in New York, San Francisco's Golden Gate and the Mackinac Bridge in Michigan.

Work on the twin, 181-yard support towers was begun in February, 1971. By April the next year, two open-mesh catwalks provided the first physical link between the two continents and work on hoisting the one mile suspension cables began.

The giant construction will use some 15,000 tons of steel and cost in the region of $28 million. But it has become an economic necessity for Turkey, despite apparently more pressing claims for roads, water and electricity supply to the countless isolated villages in the countryside.

Traffic between European and Asiatic Turkey, itself a staging post for centers as far afield as Stockholm and Teheran, has been growing at an alarming rate. The 4,500,000 vehicles crossing the Bosphorus by ferry two years ago are expected to leap to over seven million by the time the bridge is opened later this year.

A 14-mile network of feed roads leading from the outskirts of Istanbul will eliminate the present average wait of 10 hours for the ferry.

Tolls, planned to be less than the current rates for the slow ferryboats, are expected to cover construction costs and start showing a profit within 25 years, when vehicle crossings are estimated to reach an annual 32 million.

Apart from speeding up wheeled traffic, the bridge will also give the inveterate Istanbul stroller somewhere else to wander.

Each of the four tower legs will have passenger elevators up to the roadway, along which pedestrians will be able to walk from Europe to Asia, admire the view of the Istanbul skyline and gaze at the freighters passing below on their way between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean.

British Clinic Providing Medical Aid For Yemen

By Stephen Somerville

SANNA, Yemen

A cheerful, jostling crowd of Yemeni women and children gathers most mornings nowadays outside a small stone cottage near here, waiting for a chance to get their first modern medical treatment.

Some of them have walked many miles with sick babies in their arms.

They are seen by a team of young British volunteers from the "Save The Children Fund" charitable organization, who moved into the village of Rawdah, a few miles north of Sanna, last October.

A few radio announcements and a lot of word-of-mouth recommendations have made their modest operation one of the most successful in the area, which is almost totally lacking in health or social services of any kind.

"We are treating 50 to 100 cases a day now, and the patients are coming from further and further afield," says Peter Boxhall, the team leader.

The work is handled by one young British doctor, Dr. John Rawlinson from Wigan, and three British nurses--his wife Sally, Miss Frances Gardner from Kent, who has already done nursing work in Nigeria, and Miss Caroline Fraser from Surrey.

They are assisted by four Yemeni nurses, and a fourth British nurse is expected to join them shortly. Some of the wives from the small British community here also help out.

Boxhall, 40, has no medical training, but everyone agrees that his energy, enthusiasm and all-round talents as a "fixer" are responsible to a great extent for the team's quick success.

An ex-British army major, he left the service only a few months ago and was looking for his first civilian job when he saw a Save The Children Fund advertisement in the London Times. Within two weeks he was on his way to Yemen.

Since then his practical experience of soldiering in the Middle East and elsewhere, and of taking part in several British expeditions to remote corners of the world, have smoothed the way for the medical team.

After negotiating a five-year contract with the Yemeni Ministry of Health, Boxhall set about making the best of the facilities which were put at his disposal--a deserted one-story stone building with four rooms for a clinic and a rambling, beautiful dilapidated house as staff living quarters.

He enlisted the help of the local military commander to clear the land and clean out the clinic building. "I talked to him as one soldier to another, so he sent me a squad of soldiers," Boxhall recalls.

He also talked the village shopkeepers into giving discounts on all their supplies, liaises with the authorities on any problems, arranges hospital admission if possible for the more serious cases and personally tackles anything from putting up shelves to installing a toilet.

The clinic opens from 8 to 1:30 six days a week. The team handles children up to the age of 14--although concentrating on the under five--and pregnant mothers. All treatment is free.

As if a local practice were not enough--and they treated 730 patients in the first six weeks--the team now holds weekly afternoon clinics in four other towns in the north, driving out and back the same day.

At the same time they are trying to take the first ever census of the local population, prepare a survey of health problems in their area and organize basic hygiene classes.

Dr. Rawlinson, who trained at Guys Hospital in London, says most of the illnesses are the product of malnutrition, bad hygiene and poor housing. Bilharzia is believed to affect over 90 per cent of the population and ear, respiratory and gastric ailments are common.

The infant mortality rate is believed to be about 50 per cent.

In his first report back to headquarters, Dr. Rawlinson commented on the difficulty of starting up the first child health service this area has ever known: "We have a journey of a thousand miles to go, but at least we have taken the first step."

Britain's Dogs Ready For Show

By Ian Mackenzie

LONDON

A Yorkshire Terrier will take on the might of Britain's canine aristocracy at Crufts Dog Show this year to prove that a small dog is every bit as obedient as a big one.

The obedience championship at Crufts, the world's premier dog show, normally goes to working breeds to whom obedience is second nature like Alsatians and sheep dogs.

Last year, in fact, a working sheep dog won the championship for dogs, while the female title went to an Alsatian Bitch.

However, this year the Yorkshire Terrier dog, Blue Shandy of Sherview owned by Mrs. J. Burton of Mansfield in central England, will challenge the invincibility of the big breeds in one of the more offbeat contests in British sport.

Crufts officials are expecting more than 7,500 dogs to compete in the 1973 show at London's Olympia Exhibition Hall on Feb. 9 and 10.

Alsatians remain the most popular breed, followed by Afghans, Labradors, Golden Retrievers, Irish Setters, Toy poodles and Rough Collies.

lies.

"The popularity seems to have swung to large breeds--three of the top five are gun dogs--and this is especially striking as so many people now live in towns," said Sir Richard Glyn, chairman of Crufts committee.

But qualification requirements this year have sent a ripple of surprise and even dismay through the British doggie world.

Crufts committee have decided that too many elderly dogs nearing the end of their careers have taken part in the show. This year the emphasis will be on youth.

Many exhibitors of older and more established dogs had prophesized doom. "They really are upset," said Glyn.

Because of Britain's animal quarantine restrictions and the fear of rabies spreading to this country, no foreign dogs take part at Crufts. But the show is still watched and visited by dog lovers around the world.

Show officials said that last year thousands of foreign visitors took charter flights to London to attend the show, particularly from the United States, Europe and South Africa.

A long-established importer of dogs to the United States and Canada and writer for several top canine magazines says Britain retains its pre-eminence in breeding.

He said one of the great problems faced in the United States was the great distances which made it impracticable and expensive to breed superior animals when the dog might be one side of the continent and a potential mate on the other.

Crufts show was started by Charles Cruft in 1889 and has been held annually since except for war years.

Britain's prestigious Kennel Club took over its operation in 1948 after the death of Cruft and it is now run by a committee of the Kennel Club.

The event provides material each year for British cartoonists, who delight in comparing the likenesses between the dogs and their masters or mistresses.

Sales Up In Australia Heat Wave

SYDNEY

A heat wave throughout Australia during this southern hemisphere summer is draining the country's resources of beer and soft drinks while at the same time setting them up for a record sales year.

Experts in the soft drink market predict that if the high temperatures continue the industry will experience a sales life well above the seven per cent per annum growth rate experienced during the past 10 years.

The great drinking spree has caught the soft drink companies hopping to such an extent that they are finding themselves unable to keep up with orders.

Stock problems are being experienced in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth. Drink supplies in Adelaide in particular are reported to be in a state of chaos.

During the approach of December each year, manufacturers conduct a steady buildup of their supplies but this summer all estimates have been off target.

One company that denies any difficulty in keeping up with the demand is Coca-Cola (Australia) Limited which possesses 35 per cent of the national soft drink market including 75 per cent of the cola market.

The company's Sydney operation said it is working shifts at full capacity but is managing to meet all demands.

Inspections Assure Quality

Texans can be assured that they constantly are receiving wholesome, high quality meat at their local food store.

The reason is that meat processing plants in Texas are doing the best job in history in supplying customers with top quality meat, contends Woodrow Bailey, livestock and meat specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Since the Texas Meat Inspection Law became effective in 1969, meat processing plants have made a lot of changes to meet the provisions of the law. Many have also gone out of business. More than 500 plants are now operating in the state under either state or federal inspection.

How do inspectors assure that customers have a high quality meat supply?

Bailey lists some of the functions of meat plant inspectors as follows:

1. Inspect all animals before slaughter to assure that they have no infections or diseases.
 2. Examine animal organs and check all equipment used in dressing animal.
 3. Examine water, salt, spice, sugar or other ingredients used in ground or chopped products.
 4. Supervise cleaning and sanitizing of processing facilities and equipment each day.
 5. Check processed products and their labels to assure that the information presented is correct.
- To comply with the new inspection law, many plants have remodeled and new installations have been built, points out Bailey. However, since many plants have closed their doors, some communities now do not have a slaughtering facility.

We're proud our seeds have earned the trust of farmers like these...

Henry Gonzales recorded a yield of 3,683 pounds per acre with Pioneer 846. He liked the way it stood in the field and says, "It threshed real well." It'll be Pioneer 846 again next year for Henry Gonzales, Rt 3, Box 171, Cameron, Texas.

J. A. Looney planted Pioneer 8417 and got a yield of 4163 pounds. He was well pleased with the way this yellow endosperm produced. Pioneer will be the choice again next year for J. A. Looney, 1907 N. Jackson, Cameron, Texas.

Because we were the first company to commercially produce hybrid corn and with 17 years of work on sorghum, we know a lot more about hybrids and how to make crosses that really yield. We've had longer to test and re-test our varieties. We've stuck with some of our early crosses, and we keep developing new ones to fit every growing condition imaginable.

For Central Texas we recommend these sorghum and forage varieties...

Pioneer Brand 846 -- excellent drought resistance -- MDM resistant -- a full season hybrid -- our most popular sorghum variety

Pioneer Brand 848 -- excellent grain quality -- short, strong stalks -- good roots -- excellent thrasher -- full season hybrid -- good resistance to smut and MDM

Pioneer Brand 988 -- sorghum sudangrass hybrid for pasture, greenchop, hay or haylage -- ready to cut or graze in a little more than a month -- regrows again and again all summer with adequate moisture and fertilizer

When you choose a hybrid for your land, choose one from the company that started it all...

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Look At Autism

One of the most tragic, and sometimes most mysterious, forms of mental illness in children is infantile autism.

Autistic children live in a lonely and unbreakable trance. As babies, they seldom look into their mother's eyes. They never reach out to be picked up and cuddled.

By the age of two, they have withdrawn completely from the world, ignoring the people around them in favor of the Teddy bears or dolls to which they have become fantastically attached.

They become enraged and scream at the smallest departure from routine. Some must wear protective headgear, like football helmets, to prevent them from smashing their heads against the walls.

But the victims of autism often display flashes of intelligence. Some can memorize long, complicated stories with flawless accuracy. Many have absolute pitch.

Psychiatrists differ widely in their views on the cause of autism. Real cures have been rare. But parents and friends of those who suffer from the disease have one common goal: to find the answers to the cause or causes and treatment of autism.

The National Institute of Mental Health is supporting research, of both fundamental and clinical nature, into this puzzling problem.

A national voluntary organization dedicated entirely to the education and welfare of all children with severe disorders of communication and behavior such as infantile autism, childhood schizophrenia, and other child psychoses is the National Society for Autistic Children, headquartered in Albany, New York.

With 90 chapters and over 3,000 members, NSAC includes in its goals the task of making everyone in our communities aware of the affliction and of the need for supporting research and education in the drive for answers to the disease.

CAMERON, TEXAS NORTH HWY. 190

If there's anything better than one angel food cake, it's two angel food cakes, each with a different "icing," and both decorated with glowing fresh nectarine slices. In addition to the delicious flavor the fruit imparts to the cakes, there is also the appetizing eye-appeal that red-and-gold-skinned nectarines lend to any recipe in which they are an ingredient. This sunny fruit from California will be plentiful in local markets throughout the summer to bring glamor and eating pleasure to warm-weather meals.

Twin Nectarine Angel Cakes
1 package (14½ to 16 oz.) angel food cake mix
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Dash salt
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup lemon juice
Few drops yellow food color (optional)
6 fresh nectarines
1 cup whipping cream, whipped, sweetened

Prepare cake mix as package directs; turn into 16 x 4½ x 4-inch angel food loaf pan. Bake in 375 degree (moderately hot) oven 30 minutes. Invert pan and cool cake thoroughly. (Raise pan by resting corners on inverted custard cups if it has no legs to lift it up from table surface.) To remove from pan, loosen edges of cold cake with thin spatula. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; blend in water. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; stir in butter, lemon juice and food color. Slice nectarines. Split cake lengthwise into 2 layers. Arrange half of nectarine slices on bottom layer; spoon half the lemon glaze over slices. Cover with top layer. Cut into 2 loaf cakes, each 8 inches long. Spoon remaining glaze over 1 loaf; arrange half of remaining nectarine slices on top. Frost top and sides other loaf with whipped cream; arrange remaining nectarine slices on top. Chill until served. Makes 12 to 14 servings.
